ABOUT

Designated a City of Berkeley Landmark in 1986, the H.J. Heinz Building is a reminder of West Berkeley's industrial history. At the corner of Ashby and San Pablo Avenues, with its elegant Mediterranean-style façade, the 2-block-long building is prominent and distinctive.

Behind its nicely detailed exterior, was once an industrial manufacturing building producing 28 of the H.J. Heinz company's famous "57 Varieties." The architect, Albert Kahn, designed a large percentage of America's industrial buildings – and this is believed to be the only building he designed in Berkeley. The Heinz Company opened its first Berkeley plant in 1926 in a small building on the current site. It was designed to be beautiful and to enhance its San Pablo Avenue location – which was the main highway at the time. Also known as State Route 123, San Pablo Avenue is one of the oldest existing roads in the East Bay and the corner is a major intersection. Immerse yourself in this dynamic area.
